Current Microcredential Pricing, 2024-2025 Academic Year

How we got our numbers:

For the 2024-2025 academic year, tuition for New York State residents is $236 per credit, for out-of-state residents it's $472 per credit. In addition to the tuition cost of your microcredential (see our "cost per X credits" table below) you will need to add the appropriate amount of fees based on your situation.

Fees vary depending on:
- whether you are a full-time or part-time student
- how you are taking your courses – fully online, all in person, hybrid
- whether or not your classes include labs or extra program fees
- how many semesters it takes you to complete the microcredential (It's more economical to take multiple classes in one semester when possible. However, some microcredentials include courses with prerequisites that require spreading the classes over more than one semester, or include courses that are only offered in the fall semester or spring semester, not both.)
